Anxiously Waiting

“Sister Knight, mother of Newel and a member of the Colesville branch, risked her life making the trip to Zion.

Polly’s health was failing, but her anxiety to see the promised land was so great that she refused to be left behind in Ohio. ...

Her son wrote, ‘Her only, or her greatest desire, was to set her feet upon the land of Zion, and to have her body interred in that land.’ ...

He later reported that ‘the Lord gave her the desire of her heart, and she lived to stand upon that land’

Polly died within two weeks of her arrival in the land of Zion and was the first Latter-day Saint to be buried in Missouri”

The Lamanites—Jewish Ancestry /The Saints

The Saints were to be strictly honest in all their dealings with their fellowmen. Jackson county at this time was sparsely settled. There was a great deal of unoccupied land, and this could be secured at the price of $1.25 an acre

Omni 1:12-17

President Joseph Fielding Smith explained that this expression "has reference to the line separating the Lamanites from the settlers in Jackson County.

At this time the United States Government had given to the Indians the lands west of the Missouri, only later to take them away again.

3 Nephi 2:14-16

The Lamanites, who are Israelites, were referred to as Jews, and the Gentiles were the people, many of whom were of the lawless element, living east of the river."

Polly Knight:

Polly Peck Knight (Joseph Knight Sr.'s wife). It said that Joseph Smith spoke at her funeral. The lesson manual said "The Saints from Colesville, New York, were among the first Church members to settle in Missouri. they had made the arduous journey from New York to Kirtland, Ohio, but had lived in Ohio only a short time before being commanded to travel to Missouri.

Polly Knight, a member of the Colesville branch, traveled to the land of Zion, only to die there a week later.

Although she had been failing in health she was determined to hold on. Her son wrote: "She quietly fell asleep in death, rejoicing in the new and everlasting covenant of the gospel and praising God that she had lived to see the land of Zion. . . Brother Joseph Smith attended the funeral of my mother and addressed us in a very able and consoling manner." (page 184)

-Teachings of the Presidents of the Church, Prophet Joseph Smith, page 184

All the way west, Polly Knight, wife of Joseph Knight, Sr., who had mothered young Joseph Smith in the old days at Colesville, had been steadily failing. It was her one great wish to live to see the "land of Zion." Now less than a month after she had arrived with all her family, she passed away. Joseph Smith delayed his departure until after her funeral. Hers was the first death in the church in the land of Zion. Tradition is silent upon the place of her burial.

Polly Peck Knight died on on August 7, 1831, shortly after the "Colesville Branch" arrived in Jackson County, Missouri. The Colesville Saints numbered 62 when they arrived in Independence on July 25, 1831. They stopped a short time at Joshua Lewis's house in what became the Whitmer Settlement, where they participated in the dedication of Zion. There they buried Newel's mother, Polly, the wife of Joseph Knight Sr.
